We ask the child to respect each other, the property of others, the facility, themselves, and the group. Our positive approach, which respects the child as an individual, is accomplished through a partnership between home and school. When the health, welfare, and safety of children are at stake, The Glen reserves the right to terminate day camp with one day advance notice to the family. The behavior policy is strictly enforced on and off campus. The Glen reserves the right to make alternative plans when safety concerns prevent a child from attending a field trip.
